- Only request or access information on a "need to know" basis.

Requesting or accessing information for curiosity or other personal reasons is prohibited. "Need to know" means you will only obtain the taxpayer information you need to "execute your official responsibilities".

It is a misdemeanor for an employee of the FTB to make any willful unauthorized inspection or unwarranted disclosure or use of state information (Revenue and Taxation Code Sections 19542, 19542.1, and 19552).

Government Code Section 995 provides that a public entity will undertake the defense of any civil action brought against public employees in their individual or official capacity for acts done in the scope of employment.

Furthermore, Section 860.2 of the Government Code states, "Neither a public entity nor a public employee is liable for an injury caused by:
